We started January 2009 with a bang! We have rolled out our new online revenue limit application. It has been completely reengineered as a web-based application in an online platform to provide ease of access on our website. In addition, the application now includes ROC/P forms and updated Adult Education forms. Our new RevLim Online version 11.0 allows for calculations of the revenue limit for the 2009-10 fiscal year under the Governor's Budget. The web-based application has been preset to match the Governor's Proposal for COLA, deficits, and other necessary factors. We have, however, maintained the ability of the user to model alternative scenarios.

The web-based application continues to provide the flexibility to change the elements as the year progresses to a final Budget—and possible midyear cuts.

The web-based application package includes key elements of the Governor's January Budget Proposal to calculate the 2009-10 revenue limit. We will provide online updates through user notification of the changes throughout the fiscal year as they become available. As each certification is completed by the California Department of Education, deficits in some of the programs will change, and we will notify you via e-mail of the applicable changes.

The 2009-10 RevLim Online Release 11.0 will:

- Calculate Form K-12, ROC/P, and Adult Education
- Feature enhanced data input screens
- Allow the saving of multiple data sets for "what if" analysis
- Print all pages or single pages/forms
