Doing ~~More~~ With Less

A Guide to Effective Resource Management in California K-12 Education

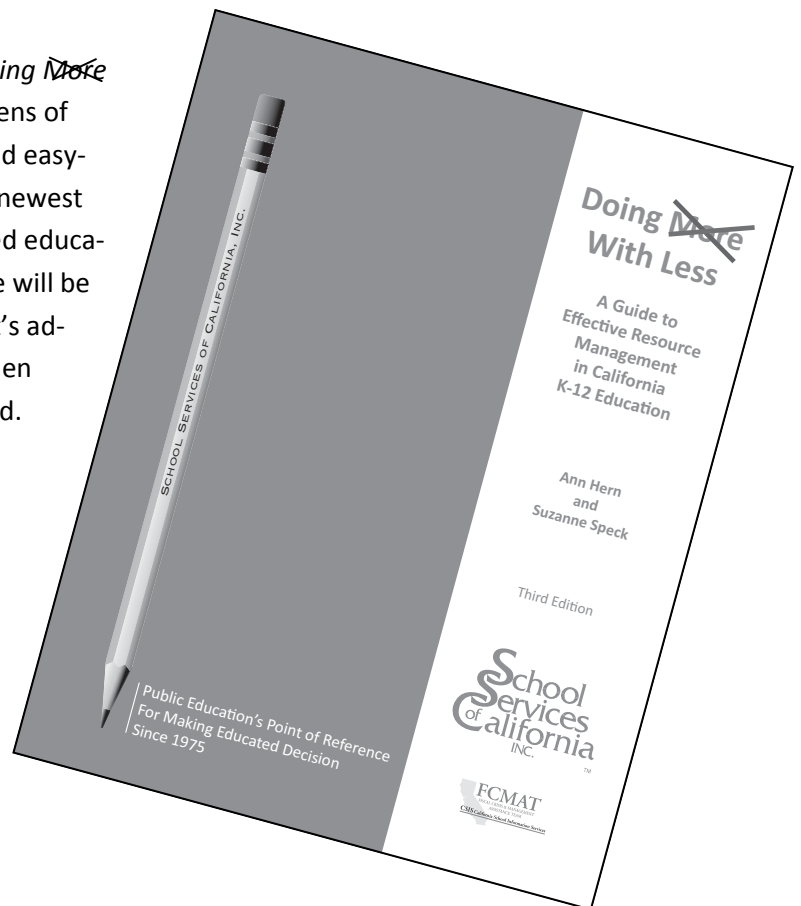

Third Edition

While SSC has assumed responsibility for developing this book and recording the ideas, we are indebted to a number of people and organizations that have assisted in the book's development. Members of Southern and Northern California advisory panels gave generously of their time and expertise to contribute their ideas on managing limited resources for school agencies.

Doing ~~More~~ With Less is a compilation of ideas and strategies to economize and reduce school agency costs from chief business officers, superintendents, personnel administrators, and board members throughout the state.

As local educational agencies in California lead through the most challenging economic crisis since the Great Depression and work to build and sustain quality education systems, the goal of Doing ~~More~~ With Less is to provide ideas on how to effectively expend increasingly limited resources. It is impossible in a guide like this to cover all of the imaginative and creative ideas on how California public education can effectively and appropriately expend its limited resources. While Doing ~~More~~ With Less attempts to capture the essence of some of those ideas, it is hoped that the publication gives heart to creative ideas that would not otherwise be considered. The ideas in this book may seem elementary to some or impossible to accomplish to others, but, in either case, the ideas will stimulate thinking that may lead to more effective management of scarce resources at the local level.

This third edition of Doing ~~More~~ With Less contains dozens of new ideas in an updated easy-to-use format. For the newest to the most experienced educational leader, this guide will be of value. If your district's address is in California, then this guide is a must read.
